Introducing Maplewood Homes Official Naming of Housing Community

(San Bernardino, CA) Our various housing communities do not usually have official housing community names and are often referred to by the city/street location. After infusing millions of dollars in construction rehab at our various housing sites, we are officially changing the name of the Medical Center Housing Community to Maplewood Homes. After almost 60 years of lingering without an official name, finally through resident and staff input a (new) name has been adopted. A sign with the community name will be displayed outside the management office. In the near future, we hope to continue officially naming our various housing communities.
